BENEFITS OF RECITATION OF THE HOLY QURAN

First of all, before answering your question, it is necessary to know the benefits and profits in reciting the Book of Allah Almighty which is the Holy Al Quran Al Shareef.

Indeed, the benefits in reciting the Holy Quran are countless and limitless, we are quoting some of them:

1. Divine Light: The heart of the Quran reciter is being enlightened by the Divine Light of the Holy Quran.
2. Divine Mercy: Allah Almighty shower His Divine Mercy on the Quran Reciter.
3. Divine Blessing: Allah Almighty sends His Divine Blessing on the Reciter.
4. Divine Treatment: From Surah Al Hamd till Surah Al Naas, there are many treatments and cures of all diseases.
5. Divine Wisdom: By reciting the Holy Quran, the heart is being loaded with full wisdom.
6. Pleasure of heart: The Holy Quran will lead the reciter to the heart's satisfaction.
7. Purification of heart: The Holy Quran purifies our heart from all impurities in heart.
8. Pleasure of Allah: Allah loves someone who recite the Holy Quran.
9. Reward: The Quran reciter will be rewarded and his sins will be removed.
10. Closeness: The Quran reciter will become nearest to Allah Almighty.

Now we come to the point that in any reasonable place and time, if someone recites the Holy Quran, he will be awarded by the above benefits and other tremendous profits in this life and hereafter.

If someone recites some specific verses in funeral, i.e. Surah Al Kaafiroun, Surah Lahab etc..., so there is nothing wrong, because the main purpose and reason is Reward (Sawaab) and Sending Reward (Isaal us Sawaab).

Furthermore, Allah Almighty has ordered us to recite the Holy Quran, and no where He and His Holy Prophet have forbid us to recite the Holy Quran in the state of happiness or sadness etc...

In face, we have no authority to ban someone to not recite such chapters of Holy Quran in such occasion, or we can't say that by reciting such Chapters of Holy Quran in such occasion is wrong or incorrect.
